Is life one big burp?

In October, at least, weight watchers in this country might consider changing religions.

In the good ol' U. S. of A., October is, among other things: Gourmet Adventures Month, Frozen Foods Buy-Time, National Restaurant Month, National Wine Festival, Pizza Festival Time and Yambilee (Louisiana yam promotion), starting with Harvest Festival Week October 1 through 7.

Add to these occasions Day of Bread (October 3), National Macaroni Week (October 5-14), Florida Farmers Day (October 9), National School Lunch Week (October 8-14), Cape Coral, Fla. Oktoberfest (October 15-16), New Braunfels, Texas, Wursthfest (October 27 start), National Pretzel Week (October 25-November 2) and National Mushroom Week (October 29 start).

But Ramadan, the Moslem religious festival, begins a month of fasting October 9.

For a considerable number of us, however, there is promise by December of a good, Christian heart attack.

NOW-NOW-NOW

STATUS GO...

It seems as if Laneport and North San Gabriel dams will begin construction in October, pending a final Court hearing on a permanent injunction against construction in November.

But with bid letting twice scheduled this month, the largest topography construction project in the Milam area's modern history is about to begin: estimates at one time reached about $25 millions or more for Laneport. Add this to what is occurring in Cameron, and Elm Creek Watershed, and the new is all around us.

Fifteen years ago, these were dreams; 10 years ago, talk; today, all but fact.

Who, now, around here, does not believe in dreams?

Superintendent To Resign

ROCKDALE

J. M. Moorman, superintendent of schools in Rockdale for the past 17 years, announced last week he plans to vacate the school post. Moorman, who came here during Rockdale's boom years of the middle 1950s and supervised completion of the school system's vast building program, said his "past 17 years have been very rewarding years for me."

Subpoenas Issued For Trial

HEARNE

County Atty. Bryan E. Russ issued subpoenas for 30 persons scheduled to testify in the trial of Lee Murray Jurode slated for October 9. Jurode is one of three persons being held in jails charged with the May killing of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kelly and their daughter, Mrs. Jim Stovall.

Prize Steer Brings $1,163.50

CALDWELL

The 1972 Burleson County Fair came to a climax Saturday night with auctioning of Jimmy Petete's grand champion steer. The 895-pound Charolais-Angus cross was bought by Port City Stockyards at $130 per hundred pounds.

Telephone Rates Raised

GEORGETOWN

In a brief special session, Georgetown councilmen voted to raise Georgetown telephone rates 6.52 percent as of October 19th. This figure is in sharp contrast to the 16.7 percent increase requested by General Telephone Company. The overall increase for the city will amount to a $1,176 rate hike, compared with the $2,811 figure proposed by General Telephone.

Ranchers Welcome Rains

ROSEBUD

During the past week, Rosebud and surrounding area has measured over three inches of rain. The rains fell on several acres of cotton not harvested, and many farmers had trailer loads of cotton at the gins. Ranchers in the area were overjoyed at the showers. Grass will have a chance to recuperate prior to the first killing frost. Small grains will be up and growing for winter pastures.

Waco Has Heroin Addicts

WACO

It's a $5-million tax-free industry in Waco. Special requirements are no conscience and a cunning mind. The name of the game is heroin, and the $5 million price tag is considered a low estimate of the yearly income from illegal sale of the drug here each year. A Drug Abuse Center official estimated that there are between 300 and 600 heroin addicts in the Waco area.

Sales Tax Refund Shows Growth

The City of Cameron banked a check for $15,507.15 this month, representing a refund on the one-cent sales tax in effect in the city.

This brings the tax refund total to $47,073.82 for the year, and includes refunds from the last quarter of 1971 and the first two quarters of 1972.

The city receives one percent of the sales tax collected (excluding groceries and other exempted items) by the state. Payments from the State Comptroller usually run one full quarter behind the time of collection.

ROTARY PRESIDENT Henry Litzman, right, gives a check for the local club's pledge to the St. Edward Hospital building fund. The check is accepted by Sister Kostka, hospital administrator, while Rotary treasurer Dana Kestenbaum looks on.

Cameron Yoemen Stop Rosebud

By Marilyn Hauk

The Cameron Yoemen upset the undefeated Rosebud-Lott Cougars 14-3 under torrents of rain and an oncoming norther Friday night at Yoe Field. This defeat may cause Rosebud-Lott their ranking among the state's top ten AA teams.

Rosebud-Lott started the scoring in the first quarter with a 28 yard field goal by John Jones. This was a gamble as they drove to the Yoe 12 from the 45 on a fourth down.

Cameron's first touchdown came in the first quarter when George Whiteside returned a punt for 61 yards. Gene Kopriva's PAT gave the Yoemen a 7-3 advantage.

In the fourth quarter Rosebud-Lott made the fatal mistake of converting to a passing game. Jones lofted a high aerial that Glynn Cummings grabbed at the Cougar 35, carrying to the 4.

Yoe Teacher Suffers Fatal Heart Attack

Adolph A. Kretschmar, a teacher in the Cameron schools for the past 6 years, suffered a heart attack at Yoe Field Friday night and died enroute to Scott and White Hospital.

Mr. Kretschmar, 54, was assisting with ticket sales at Yoe Field about 8 p.m. Friday when he became ill. He was taken by ambulance to St. Edward Hospital and was being transferred to Scott and White Hospital when he died.

A native of Milam County, he was a graduate of the University of Texas and had recently completed work for a masters degree at Texas A&M University. He had taught school at Rogers for 12 years prior to moving to Cameron in 1966. He has been a math teacher at Yoe High School for 6 years.

He is survived by his wife, seven children and his mother.

New Phone Books Due

The new Cameron telephone directory will be mailed to telephone customers on Tuesday, October 3, 1972 according to Dennis Richter, manager for Southwestern Bell.

The Cameron, 1972 phone books will exceed all previous distribution records here. The directory contains 17 pages of alphabetical listings and 44 "Yellow Pages."

Richter said more than 5,800 copies of the new directory have been printed for distribution to local telephone users and for future requirements.

Young made the three yards, then rammed across the goal for one giving the Yoemen 13-3. Gene Kopriva once again supplied the PAT putting the Yoemen at 14-3.

A determined Yoe defense led by Kopriva, Whiteside and Mike Trdy stalled the Cougar ground attack.

The victory was Cameron's third in four attempts -- all against long time rivals. The exception came against West which ended in a 14-14 tie. And previously Rosebud-Lott had defeated West by a staggering 60-0 score.

Storm Drain Project OK'd

A storm drainage project for Cameron, in the planning for a year, has received approval of funds, according to an announcement from Sen. John Tower's office Thursday.

Drainage for about a 50-block area will be affected by the project.

The Economic Development Administration (EDA) is approving 14 construction projects involving almost $1.8 million in federal funds to create some 561 new jobs in areas of high unemployment in Texas, the announcement said.

"Cameron in Milam County is one of the 14, and is receiving a $100,000 EDA grant to the City of Cameron to employ 12 persons in the installation of a storm drainage facility for the city. The city will provide $25,000 to complete the $125,000 project," Tower's announcement concluded.

Application for funds for the project had been made last October, when the firm of Joe Rady and Associates of Fort Worth was asked to make application for EDA funds to affect the drainage system.

The area in the local project includes Crockett St. area from Tenth Street, down to Eighth, turning on Eighth to Milam, and from there south to the City Park, where water will flow under the highway. The drainage will eliminate flooding during heavy rains of a large area, including Fannin St.

Proposed Bond Election Will Be PTA Program

The approaching school bond election will be the program for the Cameron PTA when it meets Thursday, October 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the Ben Milam School cafeteria.

D. D. Matthews of Matthews and Associates, architectural firm of Bryan, will assist a panel including school board members, Supt. D. R. Dodson and Jim Camp, co-chairman of the school bond information committee.

The sketch of proposed building and improvements will be on display and a question and answer period will follow the discussion of the referendum.

Court Lifts Injunction On San Gabriel Dams

A temporary injunction granted June 7 by the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals affecting both Laneport and North Fork lake projects on the San Gabriel River has been vacated by the court.

A news release from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers had the official announcement.

"We are now proceeding with contractual action for initial work on both lakes. If no further delays are encountered, work could start before the end of this year. It is anticipated that construction will take approximately five years," D. L. Orendorff, Chief Engineering Division of the Corps of Engineers, said.

Bids will be opened by the Corps' Fort Worth District on October 11 for construction of a project building and access road relocation at North Fork Lake.

On October 12, bids will be opened for a project building, visitors overlook, comfort station and access road at North Fork Lake.

On October 17 bids will be opened for the initial embankment and partial excavation of the spillway at Laneport Lake.

However, Richard Shannon, Austin attorney who has been active in securing the injunction on the dam construction, said, "The status of the matter is that the appeal is still pending before the Fifth Circuit and our oral arguments are to be heard sometime in November. At that time the court will give a formal ruling. The court has lifted the interim injunction order issued on June 7--so that's where we are. The court may issue further injunctive orders, so the case isn't over yet."

Main thrust of opposition all along has appeared to be directed at stopping construction at Laneport, with minimal mutterings against the lake above Georgetown, which is expected to create, among other things, a permanent and sufficient water supply for the growing towns of the area, including Georgetown, Round Rock and perhaps Taylor.

PROCLAMATION marking October 1-7 as National 4-H Club Week is signed by County Judge O. B. Harden, while Cameron Club members look on. From left, David Cobb, Flesh And Blood....

As discussion, pro and con, develops on the proposed Cameron Independent School District bond issue, we should remember one thing: We are not talking about brick and mortar. We are really talking about flesh and blood.

Buildings and facilities are only means to shape student lives to a more meaningful and if possible, happier adult prospect.

It would be nice to stop clocks and calendars, or even turn them back, as it is so readily done by memory or by ignoring the times.

But the pulse of life throbs inexorably in each new generation, part of which is directly influenced by this bond proposal. The most presumptuous thing an older generation can do is to try to inhibit the next generation's hopes and abilities to cope with a complex system the older generation created.

School bond proposals have been approved all around the Central Texas area: Georgetown approved 3 to 1 a $2.7 million issue for new construction. Not long ago Caldwell voted once and then a second time to approve major school improvements. Most people are aware of what Rosebud-Lott has in a new learning center at Travis.

The CISD system needs a transfusion, the kind that gives greater promise to your own issue.

Lake Building Near....

The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, New Orleans, has vacated an injunction against construction scheduled at Laneport and North San Gabriel Dams.

The action clears the way for bid openings at both sites for construction of project buildings and access roads at both major projects.

Bids will be opened October 17 for initial embankment and partial excavation of the Laneport Lake spillway.

The injunction had been filed in June by environmentalist groups seeking to block construction of the projects on grounds that effect would be detrimental to the area's natural environs.

An Austin spokesman for the environmentalist groups said the "vacated" injunction may be acted upon when oral arguments will be heard by the Court in November. It could mean a stop order if environmental objections are upheld.

But thus far, projects which have been in planning and acquisition stages for as much as 25 years are now in motion.

Laneport land is purchased. Construction money, over a span of years, is being allotted by Congress.

Such environmentalist appeals are underway across the country as major dam projects are subjected to scrutiny in terms of what happens to natural habitat. It would seem this particular effort came late, several years after land had been acquired.

The Laneport project will require about 13,000 acres, of which 5,000 acres will be under water or new control structures. It will be, like North San Gabriel and South San Gabriel, source of industrial and municipal water and even irrigation water, if needed. Advantages in all cases for recreation are obvious.

Two major dams in Bell County have created lake recreation facilities of major importance. The string of lakes above Austin have enabled low electric power and enormous recreation attraction for a city now more than a quarter million, hardly foreseeable when those dams were built. Who would now reverse these decisions to build?

The time to question effect on environment is in the hearing stages, prior to land acquisition and major investment of skills and time by Corps of Engineers experts.

Environment and timing considered, it is likely the Circuit Court in New Orleans will allow these projects to proceed.

VERSATILE FURNITURE -- A unique and low-cost furniture system whose components can be used as a desk, bookshelf, storage area or room partition is one of six designs honored in the fourteenth annual Student Design Program sponsored by Aluminum Company of America. The design for the multi-functional furniture belongs to John C. White, Omaha, Neb., student at the Kansas City (Mo.) Art Institute. The unit can be assembled by one person and the key to its versatility is aluminum connectors, which enable the joints of the furniture to hinge, swivel or slide with ease. ALCOA PHOTO.

Insurance Post Still Open

By Bill Boykin

AUSTIN, Tex. -- Senate rejection of Secretary of State Bob Bullock to the State Insurance Board amid the special session's bitterest infighting opened new speculation as to who may get the job.

Sources close to Gov. Preston Smith appeared to be deliberately encouraging rumors that former U. S. Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough would be the Governor's next choice for the Insurance Board.

Yarborough himself said he had never been offered the post by the Governor or even felt out on his availability by intermediaries. AFL-CIO President Roy Evans and State Sen. Oscar Mauzy formally urged Smith to designate Yarborough, and Mauzy predicted the former senator could get state senate confirmation where Bullock and Larry Teaver failed.

Would he take the job if offered? Said Yarborough: "That's entirely too 'iffy' a question."

Senators voted 19-11 (with one abstaining) for the Bullock confirmation. Eleven opposition votes can block any appointment.

Bullock promptly blamed Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and the insurance industry lobby for his defeat.

Smith chastised the Senate charging the body "apparently will not permit a person who is committed to protecting the insurance consumer serve on the State Board of Insurance."

Bullock foes claimed the Governor had used some persuasive tactics of his own, dangling the prospect of submitting pet home district projects to the Legislature for senators who would support Bullock.

The Secretary of State said he now intends to remain in his present job through the Smith administration.

SUCCESS DOUBTED

Some legislators are doubting if the special legislative session really is going to come up with a competitive rating bill, the subject Smith called them to work on.

Senator Mauzy of Dallas, one of the bill sponsors in the Senate, says he doesn't think a competitive rate bill can be agreed on because of House opposition. Mauzy charged the House committee hearing the rate measure is lobby dominated.

Conflicting testimony was heard on advantages vs. disadvantages of free competition in rating during week-long testimony by out-of-state experts.

At the end of the period, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes acknowledged.

"Have never been so much in the dark on legislation. People want to vote for a bill, but proponents have not done a good enough job convincing people competitive rates would be beneficial."

AGENDA BROADENED

A special session that started off confined to insurance and broadening the governor's fiscal powers has three times been expanded.

Smith earlier submitted trailer-brake-light exemptions, school disannexation, exempting aviation schools from the proprietary school act, and reimbursement of medical schools for $13.5 million in funds "borrowed" to avert a 1970 welfare crisis.

Last week, he asked the Legislature to define the state's role and responsibility in developing deep draft offshore port facilities.

The next day, he proposed an appropriation to the governor for emergency use, authority for the chief executive to meet certain fiscal emergencies from the fund, a $365,000 supplemental appropriation to finance this year's primary elections and permanent statutory establishment of the Texas Film Commission as a division of the governor's office.

HIGHWAY FUNDS SHORT

Demand for better highways is running ahead of state ability to pay for them, Highway Commission Chairman DeWitt C. Greer says.

Highway work pending ranges in need "from immediate to desperate," according to Greer, and there is no money in sight.

An adequate program for next year, with maintenance and operational costs, would carry a price tag of $1.2 billion, Greer estimates.

Highway Department net income for the next 12 months is estimated at about $482 million. Greer cites these factors in the financial squeeze:

"It now takes $1.58 to buy highway construction that cost $1 only 10 years ago.

"Release of money from the federal highway trust fund has been spasmodic for several years. This year, Texas anticipated about $283 million from the trust fund -- derived from federal highway user taxes. Actually, prospects are the state will receive only about $189 million from the federal trust fund.

Greer says the Highway Commission has pending requests for highway projects totalling about $2.7 billion. The Commission is pushing for a gasoline tax raise next year.

AG OPINIONS

Retired or active judges sitting as commissioners of the Court of Criminal Appeals are merely assigned additional duties and not a new office, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held. Martin said the appointees may be compensated.

In other recent opinions, he concluded:

"The U. S. Postal Service is an agency of the U. S. government for purposes of eligibility for state fund investment.

"A woman state employee is eligible for maternity leave regardless of marital status.

Sen. John Tower Tours TSTI Campus In Waco

Sen. John Tower toured the Texas State Technical Institute campus in Waco Wednesday during a break in a campaign swing through Central Texas in his race for re-election to the U.S. Senate.

Sen. Tower's three hour visit to the James Connally campus was non-political; he arrived on campus about 11:30 a.m. after a stop at Baylor University, and was met by Dr. Roy Dugger, president of TSTI, J. H. Kultgen, chairman of the board of regents, Dr. Jack Tompkins, V. P. and manager of the Connally campus, and other school officials.

Following a short tour of the big Kultgen Automotive Technology Center, the Senator addressed an estimated 400 students assembled in the auditorium. At noon he attended a luncheon in the Student Center that included administrative personnel, members of the faculty and the staff of TSTI.

Sen. Tower's speech to the students was devoted largely to a report of conditions in Washington and throughout the country. He said that with the war in Vietnam winding down, the nation was moving into a peace time economy, which would mean an expansion of job opportunities for young people coming out of school in the future. And he cited the recent large grain sales to Russia as a boost to agriculture economy in this country.

He said he opposed drastic cuts in defense spending.

"We must continue to keep this country the strongest military power in the world if we are to have any success in our negotiations with the Soviet Union," he told the students and received a round of applause.

A question and answer session following his speech ranged from the probable end of the Vietnam war to laws dealing with marijuana.

"The control of marijuana is a state problem," Senator Tower pointed out, and the states should handle it. He said he believed laws dealing with a first marijuana offense possibly should be lighter -- "but not for pushers."

He opposed amnesty for draft dodgers. And replying to a question about the Vietnam war's end, he said: "I don't expect any progress until after the November election. If President Nixon is re-elected, I think the North Vietnamese will realize they can't gain more favorable terms and they will decide to negotiate seriously in Paris."

During the noon luncheon in the Student Center, Sen. Tower praised TSTI for the work it is doing in the vocational - technical field of education.

"Teaching is my trade," he said, referring to the fact that he was a college professor before entering politics, and for that reason he could appreciate the job the faculty was doing.

He said he was drafting a bill for bi-lingual education for schools like TSTI's Rio Grande campus in Harlingen which has a large proportion of Mexican-American students. "It will aid Spanish speaking students in learning English, of course," he said. "But also it will help Anglos in learning Spanish and be a big help to them in business dealings in Latin countries."

The Informed Consumer

The Cameron 4-H Club met for its first meeting after summer vacations but according to reports it was a busy summer for 4-H. The summer began with the State 4-H Roundup in June at Texas A&M, then the 6-county camp at Huntsville, district leadership lab at Blinn College, state leadership lab at Brownwood, county camp, wiener roast and swim party.

Ricky Richter gave a report on National 4-H Week which will be October 1-7, also the county awards banquet to be held October 14 at Simon George Hall.

The main item of business was the election of the contestants for the Mr. and Miss 4-H contest. Paula Fleming and Donald Fleming were elected to represent the club. The contest runs from Sept. 13 until Oct. 13.

Each penny collected counts a vote, with the club raising the most money having the winners. Half the money goes to the county 4-H council and half stays in the local club.

The club members voted to have bake sales and rummage sales. A rummage sale will be held at the fruit stand across from Dairyland on September 23 and October 7.

The best advice and protection concerning automobile warranties is to buy from a dealer whose reputation you know and trust. It does not take much effort to determine how local auto dealers have handled warranty type work for your friends and acquaintances.

Many problems which arise concerning "warranty work" are caused because the automobile owner does not read the warranty he receives at the time of purchase. Until 1971 some automobile manufacturers gave a five year or 50,000 mile warranty on the power train. Now most automobile manufacturers provide a warranty of 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. How do you go about seeing that you get all that is coming to you under the warranty that came with your automobile?

First, you should be convinced that the work to be done is covered by the warranty. Assuming that it is covered by the warranty, it must be within the time period and amount of mileage specified in the warranty. Next, you should take your automobile to an authorized dealer. It should be remembered that most automobile warranties are valid only if the repairs are made by authorized dealers. Therefore, be sure that the repair facilities you have taken your care to are factory approved.

If any authorized dealer or repair facility informs you that the repair is not covered by the warranty, ask why. If you don't receive a satisfactory reply, ask to speak to a factory representative. Don't be afraid to speak up. All automobile manufacturers have representatives in regional centers to receive and handle complaints from owners. These people are authorized to approve questionable warranty work. Many times this complaint to the factory representative is all that is needed to get the necessary repair work done under warranty.

It should be remembered that, on occasions, the dealer probably has experienced difficulty obtaining reimbursement from the manufacturer for previous warranty repairs. If there is any question in the dealer's mind as to whether the work to be done will be covered by the warranty and paid for by the manufacturer, he usually will insist that the work be approved by a representative of the manufacturer before commencing. If the factory representative and dealer both refuse to do the repairs under the terms of the warranty, ask for a written refusal setting forth the reasons the work will not be done.

Now is the time for a certified letter to the manufacturer's consumer relations department. Be specific and go into detail concerning your complaint. Give names and dates. Attach a copy of the written refusal by the dealer and factory representative. If you still do not get satisfaction, the 62nd Legislature passed an act creating the Texas Motor Vehicle Commission. The address of this agency is P. O. Box 13287, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711. They are equipped to look into matters such as this.

The Texas Deceptive Trade Practices Act gives the Attorney General's office power only over false, misleading or deceptive acts or practices in the conduct of any trade or commerce. We generally do not have authority to act in cases of breach of contract, poor workmanship or defective products. However, you should probably write our office so that we can look into the matter to determine if there has been a violation of our Act and if legal action against the dealer or manufacturer is indicated. You should send your complaint to Attorney Gen-

Spanish Laborers Seek Western Style Weekend

By Brian Mooney

MADRID
Spanish industrialists, mindful of lost production hours, are saying that Spaniards take too many holidays. The laborer here, who usually works 49 hours a week, counters that the extra days off every year through public holidays compensate for his six-day week. And there are now signs that the Spanish worker will eventually press for a statutory two-day weekend.

A recent illegal strike in the northwestern port of Vigo, where as many as 16,000 workers downed tools and brought industry to a standstill, was in part provoked by demands for a five- and a half day, 44-hour week.

An agreement on this demand would give the factory worker a free Saturday afternoon in addition to his Sunday off, thereby bringing his weekend more into line with that of other West European countries. The five-day week is known in Spain as the semana inglesa (English Week).

Spanish construction workers have already been granted a 44-hour week through their state-controlled trade union.

But in the meantime the practice of taking unofficial long weekends has been snowballing Spain.

Five of this year's 15 national holidays fall on days at the beginning or end of the week in such a way that workers have been tempted to bridge the holiday and their weekend with an extra day off.

In addition, the Spanish calendar is generously endowed with local or regional holidays, most of which also provide excuses for an extra day off.

The extra days have come to be known as "puentes" (bridges), and according to a recent article in the Madrid Daily ABC they are fast becoming a national institution.

Some Spanish economists have calculated that this year's bonanza of long weekends will cost the nation about 1.35 billion dollars in lost production.

The vast majority of both the national and regional holidays are religious fiestas (feast days), and people are now asking if the Catholic Church in Spain should not fix at least some of its saints days on Sunday's.

The ABC article pointed out that the African state of Zaïre was the latest of several countries to adopt this policy, with approval from the Vatican.

Unofficial approaches are understood to have been made to the church hierarchy here, and a member of the cortes (parliament) has announced he will introduce a bill in the fall session recommending a study on the possibility of moving religious feasts from the middle of the week to Saturday's.

Spanish Labor Minister Licinio de la Fuente added official weight to this move when he announced in Barcelona: "the working pattern in this country should tend towards the reduction of public holidays and the lengthening of the weekend."

Traffic police and ambulance service, concerned by the increase in road accidents during the present system of overloaded long weekends, would also welcome a more even spread of holidays.

Daily working patterns are beginning to change too. At the height of the summer season this year some stores -- among them all the nation's bookshops -- adopted a five- and a half day week.

But while Saturday afternoons are being squeezed out, the working day in offices and shops rarely finishes before seven or eight in the evening. Two hours are still provided for the traditional Spanish afternoon sleep -- the siesta -- but city workers increasingly find they spend more time traveling during their break than at home.

City firms are now, however, beginning to experiment with the jornada intensiva (A European nine-to-five system).

But whatever the future of the Spanish working week, the ABC article points out, the average Spaniard now spends 37 more days a year at his job than he would in the United States, where a two-day weekend is the rule.

Georgetown Plans Gala For Tower

The internationally known Threadgill Family singers and a number of sports celebrities, including a medal winner in the recent Munich Olympic Games, have been added to the attractions for the gala Tower-Fest scheduled for Georgetown's San Gabriel Park on Saturday, October 7. The event is designed to honor Senator John Tower and express appreciation for his service to Texas and the nation. The celebration will open with a barbecue scheduled for 6:30 p.m. and is expected to attract Tower supporters from several Central Texas counties. Both Senator and Mrs. Tower will greet those attending; the Senator will discuss the issues in this year's senatorial campaign.

Entertainment will include music by a popular country-western band. According to Robert F. B. Morse, Williamson County coordinator for Tower, a number of additional attractions are still being arranged.

Tickets for the barbecue and Tower-Fest are $5 and are on sale in all Central Texas counties and also may be purchased at San Gabriel Park on October 7.

Air Force ROTC Open To Students

Male high school students who will graduate in 1973 and are interested in flying are eligible to apply for an Air Force ROTC four-year college scholarship.

One thousand four-year college scholarships are available for students who will enroll in the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps at one of the colleges and universities in the United States and Puerto Rico which offer the four-year program.

The scholarships will be awarded to qualified students who agree to become Air Force pilots and navigators after college graduation.

Each scholarship pays full tuition, laboratory fees, and textbook reimbursement. In addition, each scholarship student receives a monthly nontaxable subsistence allowance of $100.

All applicants for a scholarship must qualify on the Air Force Officer Qualifying Test and on an Air Force medical examination. A special committee of Air Force officers will evaluate all students who apply for a scholarship. They will consider the student's scores on the American College Test or the Scholastic Aptitude Test, high school grades, extracurricular activities and personal references.

Interested students must submit their applications postmarked no later than November 15. Application forms and additional information may be obtained by writing Directorate of Admissions, Air Force ROTC, Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama 36112.

The plot permits the reader much enjoyment and there's no question that it is down the mainstream of normal readers concern. Its romantic windup gives the book a great deal of appeal. Sun Spots, Storms Are An Astronomer's Delight

SWARTHMORE, Pa. There are some very unusual things going on in the sun. It is an astronomer's delight.

In recent weeks large clusters of sunspots have appeared on the surface of the sun, sending enormous electromagnetic fields out into the solar system.

These fields run smack into the earth's magnetic fields producing a magnetic storm. The results are radio interference, spectacular displays of the aurora borealis, the northern lights, and even a warning that electric power may be threatened.

What makes this unusual is the strength of these solar storms and the fact they are occurring now, during the waning period of sunspot activity.

Dr. Martin Pomerantz of the Bartol Observatory, Franklin Institute, explains that sunspot cycles run in 11-year patterns.

The sun began a cycle in 1964, reached its apex in 1968-69 and should hit its low point in two or three years. It is unusual to get large storms after the five or six year apex.

But on Aug. 2, the greatest sun storm ever recorded erupted on the surface of the sun.

"This one was remarkably potent. I would say it was a real record-breaker," Pomerantz said.

Three days later it happened again.

Bartol took readings here, in Antarctica and in Greenland. The eruptions produce solar cosmic rays and the electromagnetic field blocks out cosmic rays that originate in the galaxy. This gave unusual readings.

Sunspots, the source of these storms, are areas that are relatively cooler than the rest of the sun's surface.

The surface (called the photosphere) runs about 10,000 degrees F. The sunspots are areas about 1,500 degrees cooler. No one knows why.

The sunspots are almost always in clusters that move about on the photosphere. If such eruptions occur during a space flight the lives of the astronauts could be in danger, scientists believe.

In heavy storms the magnetic field could enter the earth and run up electric power lines, tripping circuit breakers. After the second major storm the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration warned power companies of the threat and power was actually blacked out in part of Canada briefly.

By studying the sunspots, Pomerantz said, it is possible to study the effect of the sun on "space weather."

Space is not empty. It is filled with minute particles and gases, some called "solar wind."

These storms produced shock waves as well as cosmic rays and rattle the void of the solar system.

Pomerantz said the storms are giving astronomers great material for studying radiation in a way that cannot be duplicated in laboratories.

Farm Bureau In Support Of Competitive Insurance

WACO J. T. (Red) Woodson of Guber, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, said today that the state's largest general farm organization is "in full support" of a competitive insurance rating system "which will be truly competitive and not competitive in name only." Farm Bureau's testimony was presented Friday, Sept. 22, before the House Insurance Committee.

Woodson said policies of the organization, which has a current membership in excess of 130,000 families, read as follows: "We recommend that casualty and fire insurance rates be established on a competitive basis, rather than being set by the Texas Insurance Board on a uniform basis."

"Among several Texas Farm Bureau affiliates are our Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies which were organized in response to policy demands of Farm Bureau members for the best possible insurance coverage at the least possible cost, with fast and fair claims adjustments," the TFB president said. "Premium dollars not paid out for claims, operational costs, and necessary reserves are returned to members in the form of dividends. The spectacular growth of our insurance companies in recent years is proof positive that we have successfully carried out the mandates of our membership," he added.

Woodson said the organization believes that proposals now before the Legislature can be amended or redrafted so that they can effectively serve as a vehicle to provide for true competitive rating. For this reason, he said Farm Bureau does not support any one bill now under consideration, but supports the principle of competitive rating.

He recommended several provisions for the Committee to consider for inclusion in the final draft of the bill it approves.

He said the State Board of Insurance should prescribe minimum coverage provisions as the basis for competitive rating rather than prescribing uniform or standard forms as the basis.

Minimum coverage provisions would require all companies to provide at least the minimum coverages set forth in State Board of Insurance regulations but would allow each company, if it so chooses, to give its insureds the benefit of additional coverages. "This is fundamental to true competitive rating," he declared.

Provisions of the bill should not become immediately effective when signed into law by the Governor, he said. "We firmly believe there should be a delay of at least six months and preferably one year so that the State Board of Insurance could have time to interpret the law, seeking the Attorney General's advice when necessary and to write procedural rules and regulations for the companies to operate under," he explained.

Insurance Program For Buckholts FHA

The Buckholts FHA girls met Tuesday morning for a discussion on life insurance.

Charles Obermiller told the Buckholts FHA Chapter that insurance meant planning for the future and showing responsibility. Obermiller also told the girls about the two ways to make money: at work and money at work.

Obermiller then explained about the level premium of living, which proved interesting and quite unknown to some of the FHA members.

Sen. Bentsen Urges Program Expansion

WASHINGTON, D.C. Senator Lloyd Bentsen has urged the Labor Department to continue and expand the Green Thumb and Green Light programs, which provide work for elderly, poverty-stricken Americans.

"These elderly citizens have given a lifetime of productive work to our nation," Bentsen said, "and now, in all too many cases they have been tossed aside, disregarded, shown no compassion."

"Of the 1.8 million Texans who are over 55 years of age, more than 800,000 of them are under the Federal poverty level," the Senator noted in a letter to Labor Secretary James Hodgson.

"Green Thumb and Green Light offer them a chance to get a job. It isn't a hand-out of welfare, but an opportunity for these 800,000 forgotten Texans to work on meaningful projects in the areas of beautification, conservation and recreation."

The Senator noted that the Green Thumb program, for men, is very popular in Texas. Project applications have been received from 122 counties, although the Labor Department has approved programs in only 17 counties.

Grant Awarded For Migrants

Fifty Texas counties, serving about 65,000 children of migrant agricultural workers, will benefit from a federal grant of $3,900,496 awarded to the State Education Agency by HEW's Office of Education.

Dr. George D. Hann, Regional Commissioner of Education for HEW's region VI, headquartered in Dallas, said the money comes from a 1967 amendment to Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 which provides special educational and supportive services to children of migratory agricultural workers. Nationwide, the program served some 275,000 children at a cost of $65 million last year.

The programs are designed to try to make up for the frequently interrupted and ineffective schooling migrant children receive as they and their parents follow the crops.

The award announced represents about one-fourth the full amount -- $14,014,787 -- requested by the State Education Agency and approved earlier by the U. S. Office of Education. Payment of the remainder will continue in abeyance pending the appropriation of program monies. The present award, authorized under a Continuing Resolution, has been limited to one-fourth the amount allocated to the State for fiscal year 1972.

Czech Day Set At Fair

The 32nd Anniversary of Czech Days at the State Fair of Texas will be celebrated October 8. The program is scheduled at 10 to 12 noon in the Coliseum and move to the band shell for the afternoon program for entertainment until 5 p.m.

The noble Beseda Dance will appear in the Coliseum, Mobile Stage, and Women's Building. Choral groups from Seaton, Dennis, San Antonio and Dallas will entertain with songs. The Dallas Czech Concert Orchestra will provide music during the program in the Coliseum.

In tradition of the Czech Days at the Fair, the oldest lady and gentlemen in attendance will reign as Queen and King for the day and will receive a trophy. A trophy will also be presented to the oldest Czech married couple.

IRS Issues New W-4 Forms

In the next few days, more than 127,000 employers in the Austin District will receive a newly redesigned Form W-4, "Employee's Withholding Certificate," R. L. Phinney, District Director of Internal Revenue for southern Texas, said today.

The IRS has revised Form W-4 to make it more understandable to employees and thereby encourage them to adjust their tax withholding, Phinney said. In most cases these adjustments will result in increased take-home pay.

The new Form W-4 being sent to business firms is part of an information packet which includes a letter to chief payroll officers and a notice to employees, both from Commissioner of Internal Revenue Johnnie M. Walters.

The letter to payroll officers emphasizes to employers that although new withholding rules have been in effect since early this year, many employees have not filed Forms W-4 to claim all the allowances to which they are entitled. According to Phinney, the letter urges employers to distribute the new Forms W-4 to all employees and ask them to check their withholding situation.

The notice to employees, intended to be posted on company bulletin boards, points out to employees that too much Federal income tax may be withheld and the employees' take-home pay reduced unnecessarily unless they file a new Form W-4 with their employers.

Phinney emphasized that an employee who has only one job, and does not have a wife or husband who works, should file a new W-4 to claim the "special withholding allowance." However, an employee who has two or more jobs may not claim the "special withholding allowance."

VA Insurance Available

Low cost Veterans Administration life insurance was made available to 18,928 additional disabled veterans during fiscal year 1972, Jack Coker, VA Regional Office Director, reported today.

The $10,000 policies, which disabled veterans may buy at standard premiums, regardless of the nature of their disability, are now being carried by 129,262 disabled veterans.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Animal Studies

Studies of animals are essential in basic research that can lead to better understanding of mental problems and to ways to help the mentally ill.

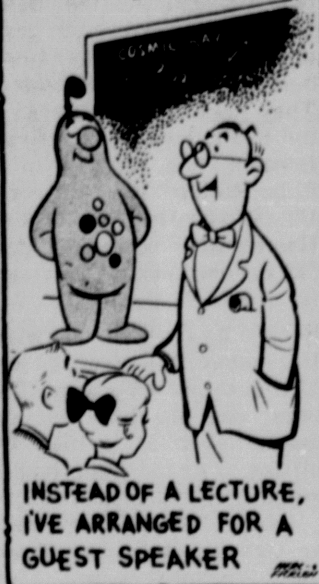

Illustrating this is research being conducted at the University of California at Santa Barbara with support from the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare's National Institute of Mental Health, Health Services and Mental Health Administration. The work is described in SCIENCE, the scientific journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Sarah is one of the subjects of the study. Sarah is about nine years old, has a vocabulary of 120 words, and can understand an eight-word sentence.

Most nine-year-olds are more advanced than this in their communication skills. But Sarah is a chimpanzee.

By studying how Sarah has learned to "read", scientists will be able to better understand and treat the language problems of psychotic children and adults who have lost their use of language through stroke or accident.

Legal Means Outlined
For Mourning Dove Hunts

AUSTIN Floating craft are legal only when beached, anchored or tied within or alongside a fixed blind.

Power boats, sail boats or other craft may be used only as a means of retrieving dead or injured birds.

It is illegal to bait or hunt over baited areas. This does not include standing crops, flooded standing or harvested crops, grain properly shocked in the field where it was grown or grain scattered as the result of normal agricultural practices.

Now go, and good hunting.

Take a look around, North Zone hunters, the dove season is upon us.

Before hustling out the door with shotgun in hand, stop and consider the legal means of taking mourning doves.

Mourning doves, along with white-winged doves, ducks, geese, brant, Wilson's snipe, jacksnipe, plover, sandhill cranes, coots, gallinules, rails and woodcocks, are migratory birds.

As such, the Federal Government sets frameworks on seasons, bags and directs how the birds may be taken.

Texas laws state that mourning doves and other migratory birds can be hunted by shotguns no larger than 10 gauge permanently plugged to a three-shell capacity.

Migratory birds may also be hunted by falconry and long bows and arrows.

Hunters may use manual or mouth-operated birdcalls, dogs and artificial decoys and blinds or other forms of concealment except sink boxes of live-stocks.

Duck Blind Permits To Be Issued

Permits for duck blinds on 17 Corps of Engineers lakes will be issued starting October 1 according to Colonel Floyd H. Henk, District Engineer, Fort Worth District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Duck season opens November 4 and closes November 26, opening again on December 9 to close on January 24, 1973.

Geese season opens November 4 and closes November 28, opening again on December 9 and closing January 24.

Persons wishing to erect a duck blind must apply in person at the project office of the lake where they want to hunt. A deposit of $20 is required for duck blinds built in the water. The deposit will be returned when the blind is removed to the satisfaction of the Reservoir Manager.

New regulations require all hunters who build blinds on shore to register its location and to remove it after the season ends. No trees, shrubs, etc. can be cut to construct blinds on Federal property. All blind materials must be brought to the lake and removed from the lake.

The 17 lakes operated by the Corps' Fort Worth District include Bardwell, Belton, Benbrook, Canyon, Grapevine, Hords Creek, Lavon, Lewisville, Navarro Mills, Proctor, Sam Rayburn, San Angelo, Somerville, B. A. Steinhagen, Stillhouse Hollow, Waco, and Whitney.

MHB Test Center
Designated For Area NTE Tests

The National Teacher Examinations will be administered on November 11, 1972, at Mary Hardin - Baylor which has been designated as a test center.

College seniors preparing to teach and teachers applying for positions in school systems which encourage or require the NTE are eligible to take the tests. In addition, the designation of MHB as a test center for these examinations will give prospective teachers in this area an opportunity to compare their performance on the examinations with candidates throughout the country.

Last year approximately 120,000 candidates took the examinations which are designed to assess cognitive knowledge and understanding in professional education, general education and subject-field specialization.

Rancher To Aid Nixon
Campaign

Norman Moser of DeKalb has been named Chairman of the Rural Counties campaign for the Texas Committee for the Re-election of the President by Erik Jonsson and William P. Clements, Jr., Co-Chairmen of the state's Nixon re-election effort.

A Democrat, Moser was active in Dolph Briscoe's campaign for Governor before joining President Nixon's re-election organization.

His efforts will be directed at mobilizing the ranching and farming families in rural Texas for President Nixon.

Organizational plans call for the appointment of several regional vice-chairmen and county chairmen to assist in the rural campaign.

Moser owns a 3,500 acre farm and ranch operation near DeKalb which is devoted to cotton, soybeans, wheat and cattle. He is also past President of the Texas and South Western Cattle Raisers Association and past Chairman of the National Livestock and Meat Board.

He is a graduate of Texas A&M University with a degree in Animal Husbandry and received the Distinguished Alumni award in 1971.

BONE HOUSES

The Thule people who settled the Arctic coast 10 centuries ago hunted Greenland whales and used the mammals' massive bones as beams for their houses. When climatic changes brought year-round ice that ended whale catching, they abandoned their villages for igloo hunting camps and pursued seals and walrus.

SPORTS

Murray-go-Round

By Tom Murray

Frank Broyles' Arkansas Razorbacks rarely point for any other than Darrell Royal's University of Texas Longhorns. And, for good reason. Few others have beaten Arkansas since the smooth Broyles became football coach in 1958.

Now, Emory Bellard's Texas Aggies have the muscle, the speed and raw ability to defend their '71 upset of Arkansas at the Rock. And, Rice is even sufficiently talented to make Broyles' lads hump it.

But, poor old Tulsa! Even with a Drew Pearson at quarterback and a Raymond Rhodes - (Remember him?) - as a Cross - Country Flyer, they ought not cross the Arkansas state line.

Doesn't seem quite right but did you realize Denny McLain is only 28 years old? Astro pitchers have been good to Hank Aaron. They have served up 41 of the 676 home-runs the Brave Bomber has closing in on Babe Ruth's 714. Former UT Pitching Great Burt Hooton may not have a good '72 record but he's still tough on the NY Mets. As a 71 Rookie he shut 'em out twice. He began this year by no-hitting the New Yorkers. The other day old Burt beat 'em again, even if it took his hitting a grand slam home-run to get it done.

Staubach
Explains
Play Style

NEW YORK Quarterback Roger Staubach, the Most Valuable Player in the Super Bowl last year, has had a lot of time to think about his relationship with coach Tom Landry and his own style of play as it fits into the Dallas Cowboy mold since his injury during the exhibition season.

Staubach, writing in the current issue of The Saturday Evening Post, says: "My scrambling used to cause a lot of comment. Coach Landry has seen me develop over the last few years and he has seen me continue to use the running option. I think running is going to be part of my game as long as I stay healthy and can run. Now, I use it as a weapon, instead of just a way out of a bad situation."

As for his wanting to call his own plays, Roger says in the article: "In our system, Coach Landry sets up a firm game plan and regularly sends in plays to the quarterback. I have an option on the field at the line of scrimmage. I can change the play at that point and call an audible if the defense looks as though they're ready for our set play."

"I will probably use the audible more, with experience," continues the injured Cowboy quarterback. "Last year I averaged four or five audibles a game. The game was the way coach Landry wanted it and we will probably continue that way until he feels that I can take over with added experience."

"However," concludes Staubach, "I think it is an important function of a quarterback to call plays and I have the intelligence to do that."

UT's Gaspar 'Lean, Mean'

AUSTIN You worry a lot when you're told that a guy who was considered one of the fiercest linebackers in the Southwest Conference last year has returned leaner, meaner, quicker, and with a "lot better attitude," but apparently that's the case with Glen Gaspar.

Gaspar, the Texas Longhorn junior from Winnie, was one of the league's top defensive players last year, but after an ill-fated stint at offense in the spring, he left for home after the spring semester, obviously disheartened and out of shape.

But when he returned this fall, he was a trim 220-pounder solidly packed into a six-foot frame. Saturday night against Miami, Gaspar and fellow insider linebacker Randy Braband were the standouts defensively in the Longhorns' 23-10 season opening triumph.

"I just made up my mind that I wanted to play," Gaspar said of his personal soul-searching over the summer. "I knew if I was going to play, I had to get into top condition."

Few folks would have termed Gaspar's attitude anything but good last year, but the two-way freshman star of two years ago had his problems during the spring.

"I was fat and out of shape and I pulled a muscle because of it," Gaspar said. "I just wasn't ready."

Because of the pulled muscle, Gaspar never really got a solid look at fullback, where he was moved last spring. As a freshman, he drew raves because of his running ability, but the lack of work during the spring dictated that he stay at linebacker.

Saturday night, he and Braband teamed for awesome inside defensive play, with Glen standing out particularly on pass defense. He intercepted one pass and took it back 20 yards, caused another interception by tipping a pass away, and knocked down one pass which only
